

Workforce Management Strategic Advisor Value Engagement (SAVE)

Solve issues in eight weeks from discovery to execution to review for fast time to value

When you have a known issue with your workforce management solution and aren't sure how to deliver the end result your organization is seeking, a strategic advisor value engagement (SAVE) can deliver fast, validated results for improving performance. Organizations dealing with issues such as pay rule configurations, manual edits, too many historical corrections, and other inefficiencies, as well as events such as acquisitions and divestments, can use SAVE to quickly identify root causes, execute changes and improvements, and review results.

In just eight weeks from on-site discovery, clarification, and planning to going live, SAVE is designed to focus on a small number of pre-identified issues that are preventing organizations from getting the most from their solutions. By limiting the engagement to specific, known challenges, you can quickly optimize and realize improved results from your UKG® investment.

Workforce Management Strategic Advisor Value Engagement (SAVE)

Scope and approach

Our strategic advisors work with your team to assess your specific needs, lay out the findings and recommendations, build a roadmap, get executive sponsorship, and support your execution of the plan. A SAVE spends less time on analysis and more time achieving value.

Week one

The first week includes on-site discovery of the issues you want to fix as well as defining the scope of the SAVE and planning how it will be executed.

Weeks two to eight

Next, our team supports your team remotely as they execute the plan, fixing problems and performing testing to validate the solution and quickly achieving results and value.

After engagement

Finally, we'll review the playbook and engagement results with you and develop a plan for the future. If needed, you can continue the SAVE cycle or engage with us on a new SAVE to handle additional opportunities.
