

UKG and Tyler Technologies' Munis Integration

Develop a superior workforce management and human capital management strategy

The power of integrating UKG and Tyler Technologies' Munis solutions

It is not uncommon in today's market to see organizations utilizing multiple and oftentimes disparate software systems to accommodate time, labor, and human resources needs. However, every available tool, software, or strategy should be taken advantage of in order to best manage your employees' daily productivity and hire-to-retire experience, while lessening the administrative burden on your HR and payroll staff.

Most people have come to expect the ability to integrate one piece of enterprise-level software with another. But delivering an easy-to-implement and easy-to-use integration experience can sometimes be challenging. UKG (Ultimate Kronos Group) has worked alongside Tyler Technologies' Munis (Munis) for more than 20 years to develop and implement a superior workforce management and human capital management integration strategy. With 450+ common customers, UKG and Munis have identified key indicators for a successful integration strategy to deliver the best experience for your organization.

Reduced burden on IT staff

As a configurable solution, the UKG™/Munis integration doesn't need to be individually developed, resulting in shorter implementation timelines and faster returns on investment. Plus, this cloud-based unified system delivered by our industry experts reduces the burden on your IT staff so they can prioritize other projects.

Streamlined position management

Data imports of employee records and job class information result in enhanced position management workflows to increase accuracy and reduce administrative burdens. With labor hour, pay type, and position data being seamlessly transferred between payroll and finance, you can deliver perfect paychecks to your employees.

Improved onboarding experience

Creating a unified system for new employees to easily learn and adapt to results in reduced manual processes for HR staff. With fewer manual interventions needed to import demographic, job class, and pay type data, HR staff can spend more time on other, more productive initiatives.

Extend Your ERP's Capabilities

Discover the power of a seamless UKG/Munis integration

Fill functionality gaps and extend your system's capabilities

With a configurable integration that provides ready access to the functionality you need today, it's easy to see why UKG and Munis have the most integrations implemented in the market. A seamless implementation process and streamlined user experience are essential for staff to effectively leverage the power of a full human capital management suite. Filling functionality gaps and extending your system's capabilities with a UKG/Munis integration allow you to:

- Track extra-duty hours with the job transfer option to clock in, with records automatically calculated and adjustments made for processing orders
- Effectively manage grants and projects with up-to-date, detailed data while ensuring funds are being pulled from the correct financial account
- Reduce manager time spent on multiple timecard approvals with one timecard per employee and managers only approving time worked for their department
- Leverage enhanced reporting features and visuals with complete, real-time data through ad hoc, scheduled, or custom reports
- Track and allocate hours worked to feed weighted average overtime calculations and shift differentials, ensuring perfect paychecks
- Foster employee accountability and safety with punch in/out features such as geolocation and geofencing with mobile functionality
