

Getting started with deployment services

What to expect - and how to expedite your success

As you begin your UKG Ready™ deployment, you want to maximize your investment by getting up and running as quickly and efficiently as possible, with minimal disruption to your organization. A well-managed deployment — completed on time and within budget — gets you off to a strong start and lays the foundation for early success. But while process and software functionality are important elements of a successful deployment, our goal is more broadly focused on your ability to reach full, effective user adoption.

Deployment services you can count on

From your customer success team to your project manager and application consultants, your UKG Services team is here to guide you through every step in deploying and configuring UKG Ready to meet your requirements and get you up and running through a guided, strategically directed experience.

Ensuring your investment is a success from the start

Our experts facilitate a streamlined deployment through every phase, partnering with you to design a plan that leverages our Time to Value Deployment Model and reflects your organization's size, industry, and specific business needs. We'll also outline your contributions to the project's success, allowing you to manage expectations within your organization. And finally, we incorporate quality checkpoints to ensure your ongoing satisfaction and minimize schedule delays.

A plan that measures your satisfaction and expedites your success

The project plan for your deployment will include specific goals and milestones. These milestones are defined throughout the project, enabling the project manager to review the scope and quality prior to progressing to the next phase of the project. At each milestone, we'll formally ask for your feedback to assess progress.

The [UKG] Implementation Team is awesome - helping you through all sorts of questions. The system is already freeing up so much time that we spent doing manual entry!

Moving toward your goal: a successful go-live

Starting with our Welcome Program, every phase is structured to prepare you for what comes next as you move toward a successful solution go-live. Here, the entire delivery process is outlined from start to finish.

Our deployment goal is for you to receive the value of your investment in UKG Ready quickly and efficiently. In order to achieve this, we work with you to roll out our core modules first, including Time, Accruals Manager, HR and Benefits, and Payroll and Tax Filing. After these modules are completed, the focus shifts to deploying any additional modules you have purchased, as well as configuring additional functionality in our core modules.
